With MTM EcoTerra we aim to reduce the carbon footprint in the apparel value chain, where used plastic bottles are collected, cleaned, and converted into chips. These chips are processed for making high performance fibre and filaments which is finally used to produce sewing thread of different substrate and sizes.

EcoTerra is a range of 100% sustainable sewing thread which is made from recycled PET bottles.

It is specially engineered to give robust performance in stitching of varied range of fabric from delicate silk to tough denim.

- Available in all the major tex/ticket sizes into following product categories:
